

The Hittlestonian

1963

In the past
men have gazed with longing to the horizons
bounded by the vast oceans.
They have crossed those unknown seas searching for answers to many secrets.
Like these men, we too,
as children, began our journey
across the vast sea of life.
Our ships were the tools of our education. We searched for the answers to many questions.
Some have been answered,
others still confront us.
The journey towards knowledge is never-ending.

The Huttlestonian

Class of 1963

Knowledge

School sports serve the body as well as the mind.

New experiences, discovered alone or shared with others are instrumental in moulding our characters. When we were children, these experiences came within the small horizons of family and home. Now, the scope of our experiences has increased as our horizons have been expanded by our high school life.

We have learned many new things. The worlds of nature and of the sciences have been laid open to our inquiring minds. The story of man's past has fascinated us, and we have been prepared for lives in business, industry and college.

We have prospered individually as we participated in activities of our choice, and the words "school spirit" acquired new meaning as we cheered our teams on to victory.

The past four years of our lives have been fascinating, busy, and fruitful. They have prepared us for the unlimited horizons awaiting us in our adult lives.

Dedication

Our Principal, Charles C. Entwistle

With deep feelings of fondness and respect, we, the class of 1963, dedicate this edition of THE HUTTLESTONIAN to our principal, Charles C. Entwistle. Four years ago, he arrived, like us, a newcomer to Fairhaven High. Now, as we depart to seek our individual ways, he remains to guide others to the new horizons he has opened for us.

From Our Principal

CHARLES C. ENTWISTLE B.S., M.S.

"The eye is the first circle; the horizon which it forms is the second; and throughout nature this primary figure is repeated without end."

Emerson—Essays, Circle

As we move from station to station, our eye encompasses new and different horizons. This basic fact is a source of delight and refreshment. When—wearied with the sameness of our daily life, we seek and find a fresh outlook—our flagging tempo is revived. Natural horizons are infinite in number. The total we envision in our lifetime is limited only by our desire to search after them.

Yet it has been said that for the majority of those who inhabit the earth, the horizon is bounded by the first range of encircling hills. The physical limits imposed on man's vision by the geometry of nature serve to render the inert man sightless as it were. Unless he heeds the urge to climb out of his valley he will never see beyond the ridge.

Be mindful that physical limits of vision apply but to the eye. No bonds hold fast the mind. For it, there is no fixed horizon. The mind is man's window that opens on vistas beyond the power of the eye to see. The slopes that rim the valley of our being cannot rim the vision of the mind. It is man himself who shuts out the light that intellect lets in. Each one sets the limit for himself.

As you, the Class of 1963, depart to find new horizons, let your mind, not your eye, seek the outer limits. Let your dream be such that you see beyond the years. Ascend to the ridge above you. There you will break the barrier of the old horizon and will see yet another, of greater circumference, beckoning you on.

Our wish for you is that you may ever stand outside the limits of today and see before you the hope and promise on tomorrow's new horizon.

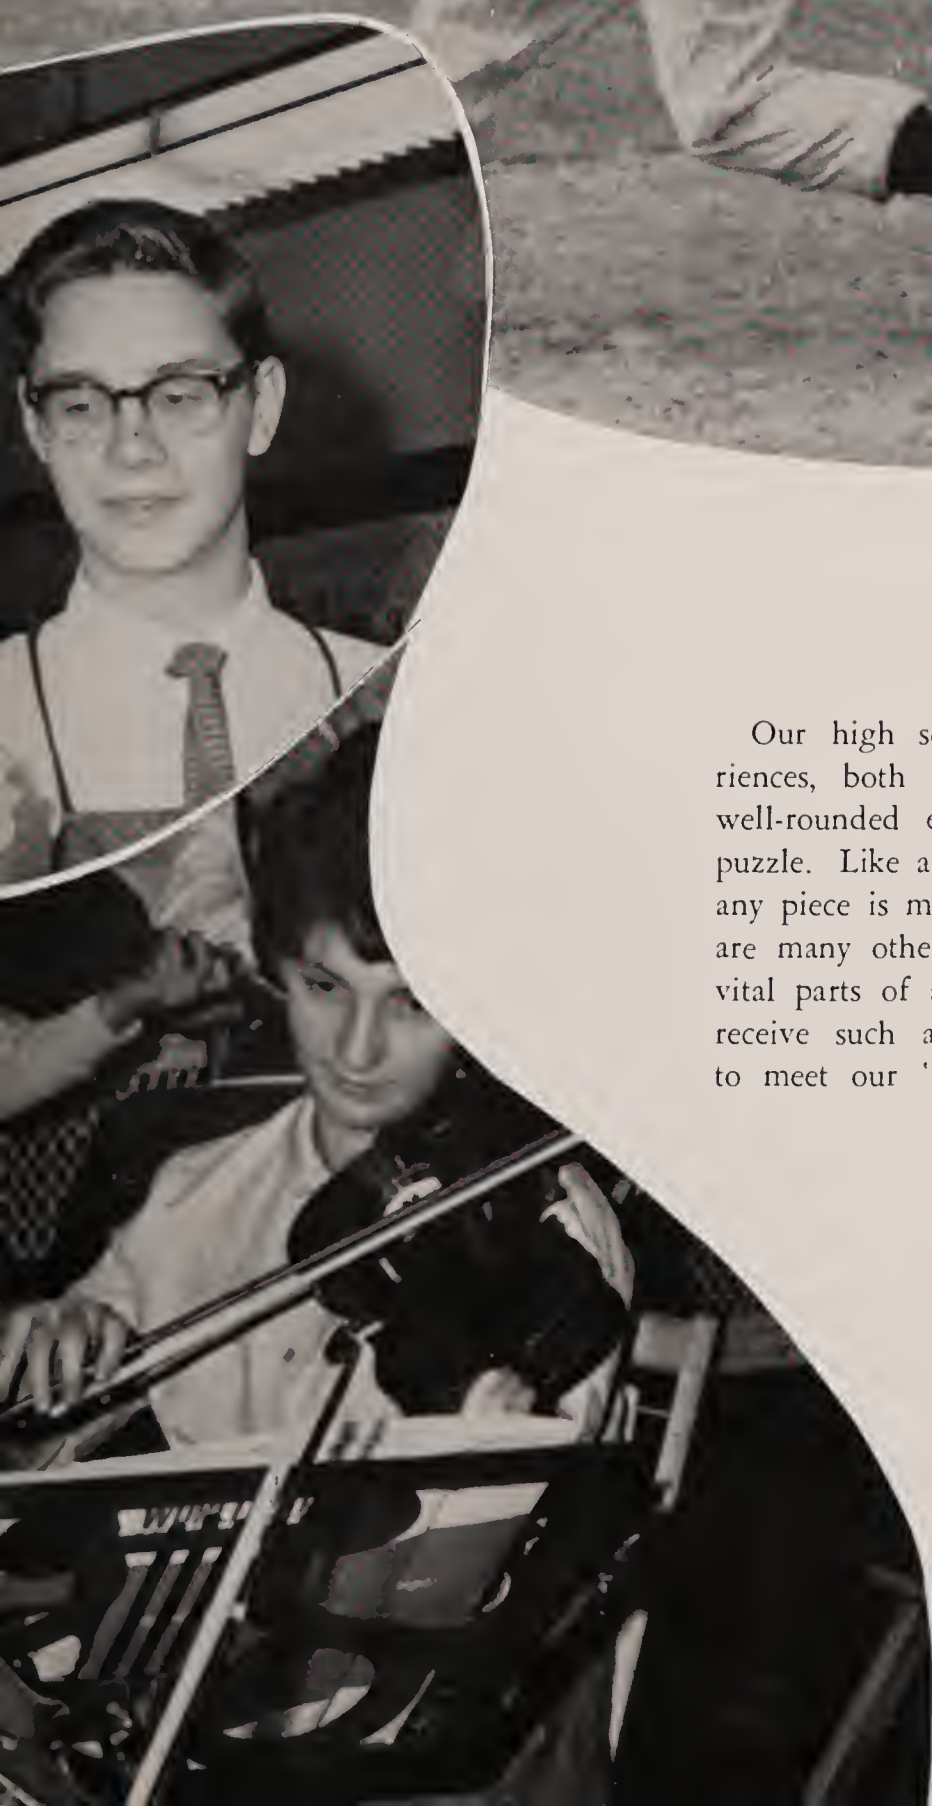

The class of 1963 would like to pay final tribute to Mr. Walter D. Wood, our late Vice Principal. We shall never forget his interest and help during our years at F.H.S. His loss will be felt for many years to come.

Our Junior High

The Fairhaven Junior High School is not just a beautiful new school; for us, the class of 1963, it is a treasure-house of memories, for it was there that we were first united as a class. We were the first to enter those halls, to establish traditions, and to graduate. We made new and strong friendships that will endure long after our school days are over. There, we added to our store of knowledge and looked forward to a bright future. The Junior High School began the difficult task of preparing us for our first new horizons.

Our high school years are a composite of all our experiences, both scholastic and extracurricular. The parts of a well-rounded education fit together as do the pieces of a puzzle. Like a puzzle, too, our lives are not quite complete if any piece is missing. Studies alone are not an education; there are many other important parts—sports, music and shops are vital parts of a student's life. We at Fairhaven High School receive such a rounded education which better prepares us to meet our "new horizons."

Our Faculty

CARLTON ALBRITTON B.S.E. M.S.E.

WAYNE W. WILSON B.S.

Mr. Wilson is a graduate of Springfield College. A physical education teacher, he is Fairhaven High School's varsity basketball and baseball coach.

English

The polish and poise of each individual is dependent upon his proficiency in his language. Therefore students at Fairhaven High School are fortunate to have such a remarkable English department. Our teachers have opened the door for us to the world of literature, and from the pages of many of the great classics we have learned valuable lessons of life. We do not only learn to profit from the writings of others, but we also learn to create. Through practice in grammar and composition, we gain the powerful tool of accurate expression. In our class discussions we share our thoughts and ideas and develop a greater understanding of the feelings of others. The study of English is more than a study of subject matter; it is a study of life and a step to maturity.

Languages

A language is a standard set of words by which one man is able to communicate with another. Acquiring a workable knowledge of a foreign language is an integral part of our search for new horizons. Each language has its own horizon, its individuality, and a reflection of its native people. As we become acquainted with a new language, as strange words join together to convey a meaningful thought, we sense a unique feeling of affinity with the people whose language we are learning. In an age of travel such as the one we are now living in, the knowledge of a foreign language has innumerable uses.

We learn much about the civilization of foreign countries through the study of their languages.

A country's customs are more interesting if one understands the native language.

"Un, deux, trois, compris?"

The ancient language, Latin, helps us to understand better our own language as well as others.

And here is an interesting item—a copy of the “Times.”

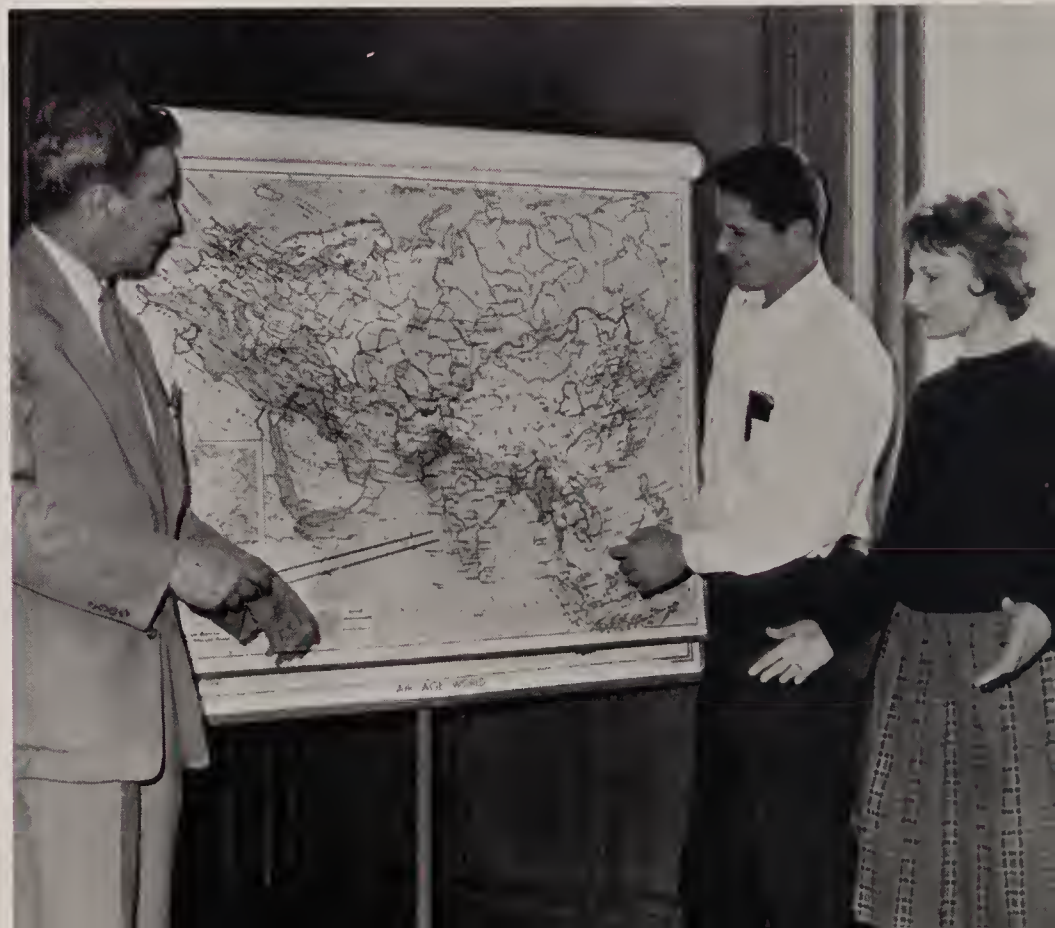

History

The past is part of the basic foundation of the present and the future. The future of our nation depends on its history and the youth of the present. If the youth of today learns from the past, it will be able to build a strong future. The history curriculum at Fairhaven High School helps the students to understand the past. United States' History is a required subject before a student may graduate. In this way, a student is better prepared by Fairhaven High School to meet his own future and the future of the nation.

“What’s so funny, Ray?” laughs Mr. Kummer.

One of Fairhaven High’s new courses, Non-European Civilization, helps students to undersand important things about such countries as India, and China.

Mathematics

Since some mathematics are required in each curriculum at Fairhaven High School, it is necessary that our math course be diverse as well as functional. Fairhaven's mathematics department fulfills its purposes well; it prepares college course students for more advanced studies, it provides a solid background in business arithmetic for business course students, and it contains a broad course in general mathematics for general course students. Fairhaven High School has good reason to be proud of the fine job its math department is doing in educating all of its students.

In Mr. Lawton's classes students often explain problems that they understood to the rest of the class.

The general math course teaches the use and application of slide rules as well as many other facets of mathematics.

Gym

To stress the physical education program, Fairhaven High School requires freshman and sophomore students to take gym classes twice a week. The girls' program, supervised by Miss Alma Jean Campbell, includes such sports as softball, volleyball, and basketball as well as physical fitness tests and various exercises. These activities are designed to promote fair play and good sports-

Custodians and Cafeteria Workers

Our school could not function without the custodial and cafeteria workers. Our students often give them extra work by their "harmless" pranks; but, good-natured people that they are, our custodians forgive us. Class History

In the early fall of 1959 as Freshmen, we became aware of the new horizons offered us in the next four years. We chose, in our first election, the people who were to lead us during this year of new acquaintances and Ideas. They were Deborah Knox, president; Donna Farin, vice-president; Linda Martin, Secretary; and Nancy Pacheco, Treasurer. Assisting our officers was the Executive Board comprised of Marjorie Schmidt, William Holt, Joyce Crowther, Douglas Cabral and Susan Benjamin. We were determined to adjust to the world of the "big kids." Our first class project was the sale of Christmas Ribbon Candy. We joined with the other classes in presenting a dance, "Paris Holiday." At this time, we were anticipating our Sophomore year, and felt relief that we would no longer be the youngest class.

The summer of 1960 passed all too quickly, but nevertheless we found ourselves eager to return to school as Sophomores. At this time we were joined by our Mattapoisett friends. This year we were led by Douglas Cabral, president; William Holt vice-president; Marjorie Schmidt, secretary; and Deborah Knox, treasurer. The Executive Board included Charles Mitchell, Linda Martin, Donna Farin, Paul Souza, and Nancy Carvalho. We sold Christmas candy as our main fund-raising project. Emphasizing our increasing importance in school activities, three of our classmates became cheerleaders, Marjorie Schmidt, Joyce Spooner and Susan Benjamin.

We entered our Junior year with the satisfaction of being upperclassmen at last. We were sorry to see our Mattapoisett friends leave, however, to enroll in the new Old Rochester Regional High School. Much of our excitement this year was in preparation for the planning of our Junior Prom and Junior Day. Guiding us through our many activities were Marjorie Schmidt, president; Douglas Cabral, vice-president; Linda Martin, secretary; and William Tolt, treasurer. Deborah Knox, Joyce Spooner, Paul Souza, Nancy Carvalho, and Linda Poirier made up the Executive Board. This year we were greatly helped by a committee of hard-working advisors, Miss Margaret Manghan, Mr. Harry Kummer, Mrs. Priscilla Doran, and Mr. Edward Trainor.

For our main project we sold magazines with the Senior Class. Ann Early was chosen as the first American Field Service student to take part in the school program from Fairhaven High School. She spent almost a whole year in Australia, and returned with much to tell about our friends on the other side of the world. Linda Martin, Linda Poirier and Beth Church were chosen for the Cheering Squad and Marjorie Schmidt was elected head cheerleader.

The Junior Prom was a memorable night for everyone. After the long hours spent on decorations, we all realized it was worth while upon our arrival at the Auditorium. As we danced in a lovely aquatic atmosphere, we all waited for the coronation of the queen. Linda Martin was crowned queen by Karen Behn, the last year's queen. Susan Benjamin was Lady-in-Waiting, and Susan Arnold, Norma Carruth, Gail Jacobsen, Linda Poirier, Marjorie Schmidt and Gina Testa completed the court.

We arrived at Junior Day with mixed emotions. We were very proud to be seniors, yet we realized that our last high school horizon was approaching. Marjorie Schmidt received the College Club Book Award, and Richard Kszystyniak received the Harvard Club Award.

Finally as Seniors, the leaders of our school, we elected our officers; Douglas Cabral, president; Marjorie Schmidt, vice-president; William Holt, secretary; and Linda Martin, treasurer. They were assisted by the Executive Board of Kenneth Browning, Paul Souza, Deborah Knox, Nancy Carvalho, and Linda Poirier. The entire class was most grateful to our very generous advisors, Miss Margaret Manghan, Mr. Joseph O. Guay, Mrs. Priscilla Doran, and Mr. Harry Kummer who helped us prepare our graduation festivities. We had several fund-raising projects which were all successful. We sponsored a Thanksgiving Dance, and we sold Christmas candy. The Senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," directed by Mr. William Schimmel, was presented on March 15 by an exceptionally nervous cast. The many hours of hard work were rewarded by a fine performance.

Our Senior Prom was held on June 7 at the Silver Gull in Mattapoisett. This enchanting night was the start of many fun-filled days of Senior activities. Senior Banquet was held on the following Monday at the New Bedford Hotel. At the Commencement Exercises on June 12 we realized we had finally attained all the horizons we had envisioned four brief years ago. We also realized that there would be many more important ones to meet.

Executive Board members are Nancy Carvalho; Linda Poirier; Debbie Knox; and Paul Souza. Absent when picture was taken was Ken Browning.

Class Will

We, the Class of 1963, do bestow these bounteous treasures upon our faithful successors as our last will and testament:

Anne Alexion leaves her contagious laugh to Jane Moss.

Joyce Spooner and Debby Knox leave their locker full of food to any unfortunate Juniors who will get second lunch.

Brent Gonsalves leaves his car to any student who can't stand school lunches.

Sorry girls, we refuse to leave Muriel in the locker room before school.

The Seniors of Period I French Class leave all that they have learned from those racy French stories.

B. J. Moore leaves her truck to any Junior girl who thinks she can control it.

Kay Marriott leaves her maps of Dartmouth to Carolyn Marques.

Sue Benjamin leaves her revoked license to Steve Bouley.

Norma passes along the bottle of peroxide to Linda Risdal.

Donna Rogers leaves her contact lenses to Lisa Wright.

Steve Ferreira leaves his man of the world attitude to Bernard Labbe.

Bill Holt leaves to Rodney Corson his black eye and center spot. "Rots o ruck, Rod"!!

Nancy Pacheco leaves her hook-shot to Leslye Shurtleff.

Doug Cabral leaves his dirty saddle shoes to Larry Patasini.

Rhea Carle leaves her bottle of Metrecal to Lee Twarog.

Ruth Gallant leaves her freckles to Grace McCarthy.

Carol Ventor leaves her monitor post to Bethany Bellotti.

Howard Shumway leaves his drumsticks to Marty Sitnick.

Linda Martin leaves the running of the school to her aunt.

Ken Browning leaves six inches to Billy Dumas.

Frank Ferreira leaves his pegged-pants to the School Committee.

Richard Kszystyniak leaves all his Classic comic books to all those Juniors who can't stand book reports.

Two tired editors leave the Huttlestonian Room forever.

Sue Barker leaves the Driver Ed car, more or less, to Mr. Schimmel and next year's classes.

Margie Schmidt leaves the "A" honor roll to Steve Entin.

The Seniors solemnly march into the auditorium.

Junior

It was a beautiful spring day: the sun shone down as we marched into the auditorium for the Junior Day exercises. The day was one of happiness, for we would receive the symbolic mantle of the senior class.

The Juniors marched into the auditorium to the music of the orchestra. Next the Seniors solemnly paraded down the aisle and filed into their seats.

A saxophone selection was given by Larry Lariviere.

Marjorie Schmidt is presented the College Club book award.

Day

Marjorie Schmidt received the College Club book award, and Richard Kszystyniak was the recipient of the Harvard Club Prize Book award. Ann Early, Nancy Carvalho, and Marjorie Schmidt received certificates for their 90% yearly average.

A great change had taken place during the short exercise. We filed out as the Senior Class of 1963, ready to assume the responsibilities of leadership.

“Ebb Tide”

The auditorium had been beautifully decorated with reminders of the rolling sea. The balcony was draped with nets, which held numerous fish. The walls were also covered with creatures of the sea, and the finishing touch, adorning the stage, was a huge pink scallop shell. This was the evening of our Junior Prom.

We were greeted as we arrived by the Patrons and Patronesses. Beaming princesses were waltzed about the floor by their well-dressed escorts.

All activity came to a halt as the royal procession entered, led by last year's Queen, Karen Behn. She was followed by the Queen's lovely court—Gina Testa, Susan Arnold, Norma Carruth, Gail Jacobsen, Linda Poirier, and Marjorie Schmidt. Next came the lady-in-waiting, Susan Benjamin, and finally the royal Queen, Linda Martin.

Our Queen was crowned by Karen Behn and was presented a bouquet of roses. The lady-in-waiting also received a bouquet, and each member of the court was given a small remembrance.

At eleven-thirty our delightful evening had ended. It was an evening we would never forget.

Fairhaven High School's American Field Service Exchange
Student for 1963, Elizabeth Sandoval of Caracas, Venezuela.

Field Service

A small but charming addition to our Senior class was Elizabeth Sandoval of Caracas, Venezuela. Ely, as she has been known to her friends, stayed with the Oscar Morency family and attended school with her American sister, Marilyn.

Among Ely's subjects in school were English, Mathematics, and American History. She was also a member of the Future Teachers Club. New England's cool climate and wintry weather were a pleasant change for Ely, since the temperature in her homeland rarely drops below 75°. She enjoyed ice skating most of all, despite the cold.

A group of Ely's friends listen while she and Marilyn talk about the differences in Venezuelan and American schools.

"My, this is interesting," remarks Ann Early and Charles Maxfield, our Most Intellectual.

An endless flow of conversation issues forth from our Most Talkatives, Bill Holt and Linda Martin.

Larry Lariviere serenades Norma Carruth as our Most Musical.

Quietest are Lee Staples and Cynthia Mello, posed for a downbeat.

Superl

"We'll probably get thrown off the team for this," says Most Athletic Steve Vining to Nancy Pacheco.

"Smile no matter what," says Best Natured Paul Souza to Debby Knox.

"Whom will I go out with to-night," Most Flirtatious Kay Marriott and Steve Ferreira ask themselves.

"What else can we do for fun," wonders Most Entertaining Frank Ferreira and Anne Alexion.

Class Dreamers Joyce Spooner and Mike Jackson are lost in their own worlds.

Doug Cabral and Margie Schmidt choose sides as Best All-Around.

Nancy Carvahlo and Richard Ksyzyniak display the talents which destine them to be Most Likely to Succeed.

Gina Testa and Ken Browning show off their merits as Best Dressed.

Most Polite Linda Poirier and Paul Borges demonstrate one form of etiquette.

We Salute

During the past year, several persons and organizations at F.H.S. have, through their exceptional conduct and ambition, brought esteem to their school and to their community. We salute them for their achievements.

. . . DOUG CABRAL for receiving the Jewish War Veterans' Good Citizenship award.

. . . BILL HOLT, our Student Government Day representative.

. . . NANCY CARVALHO, who was recipient of the DAR award.

. . . RICHARD KSZYSTYNIAK for the Harvard Book Club award.

. . . MARGIE SCHMIDT, recipient of the College Club book award.

. . . the staff and advisors of The Spray for their work in giving F.H.S. a school newspaper of which to be proud.

. . . BILL HOLT, who was named center of the All Bristol County football team.

. . . CHARLES MAXFIELD, winner of the "I Speak for Democracy" contest.

. . . BILL HOLT and RICHARD KSZYSTYNIAK, our Boys' State representatives.

. . . ANNE GARDELLA, JANE DELANO, LISA WRIGHT, and RAYMOND ROSE, American Field Service finalists.

. . . NANCY CARVALHO, ANN EARLY, MARGIE SCHMIDT, and LEE STAPLES, winners of Merit Scholarship Letters of Commendation.

. . . EILEEN ESCOLAS, and CHARLES MAXFIELD, who have been chosen Merit Scholarship finalists.

. . . members of the Southeastern District Orchestra, NORMA CARRUTH, JUDY FURTARDO, CAROLYN COSTA, CAROL LONGO and CYNTHIA TENCZAR.

. . . CAROLYN COSTA, for being named to the Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra.

. . . South Eastern District Band member
MIKE HOULE.

. . . District Chorus members, JUDY CLAFLIN, BERNARD LABBE, SUE BARKER, and PATRICIA OISTER.

. . . members of the All State Chorus, BERNARD LABBE, and SUE BARKER.

. . . for outstanding scholastic achievement, MARGIE SCHMIDT, and STEVE ENTIN.

. . . the members of the Girls' Basketball Team for their outstanding efforts and achievements this past year.

. . . all students at F.H.S., and especially CHARLES MITCHELL, and BILL HOLT, for their efforts on behalf of the Jeff Purvis Fund drives and dances.

. . . LINDA POIRIER for being appointed as secretary for the Fairhaven Planning Board.

. . . KAYALICE MARRIOTT, for being selected in 1962 by the Social Action Committee of the Congregational Church to observe mission work in Puerto Rico.

. . . The F.H.S. Dramatic society for the fine entertainment which they gave to the school at the Christmas Assembly.

The entire cast of "You Can't Take It With You" poses for a picture.

"Don't be afraid. Everything's under control," quips G-man Lee.

Senior Play

Weeks of hard work and constant practice made our Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You," a great success. The final cast worked long and hard in order to put on a fine performance. The play was directed by Mr. Schimmel, whose expert advice aided greatly in the production of the play.

Bill Holt speaks to an attentive audience comprising Kathy Rioux, Marilyn Morency, and Pat Powers.

Pat Oister throws Butch Morris for a loop.

"Don't get fresh," says Debbie to Ray.

Learning Leadership

We came as Freshmen . . . confused but willing and eager to learn. We were given new schedules, met new friends, found new ways of learning, and new surroundings in which to learn. Yet as unaccustomed as we were, we recognized the beauty of our high school. Suddenly we look back and find our first year at F.H.S. has

This year the class of '65 sold magazines as the class project. We did very well with the whole class pitching in. We were aided greatly by Mr. Taffe one of our class advisors who did the accounting for us. These two salesmen won radios for their efforts.

The all female executive board looks up towards the future, after all we still out-vote the all male officers five to four. Members from top (upstairs) down include, Kathleen Teixeira, Joan Laverdiere, Janet Pacheco, and Sandra Almeida. (absent when picture was taken: Joyce Holden.)

Class of '64

In all probability the greatest accomplishment that may be claimed by the Junior Class is their entering the path which leads to the exit of a high school career.

The Class of '64 spent a very busy and memorable year. The school year opened with the anticipated arrival of the class rings, designed by the Ring Committee. As the year progressed, work was once again begun on our class project, the sale of commemorative stationery. In January the class began work on the Junior Prom. Our theme, "Springtime in the Alps," lent beauty to an evening long to remember.

Our junior year contains memories of hard work, mixed with enjoyment and the realization that the end of our high school days were drawing near. We anticipated our senior year with mixed emotions—happy to reach our last year; yet, sad to see the end of a high school career coming so soon.

Our Junior Prom Decorating Committee out in the wind.

Honor Society

Left to right, front: A. Early, S. Benjamin, M. Schmidt; middle: L. Martin, N. Carvalho, G. Jacobsen; top: C. Maxfield, D. Cabral, W. Holt.

The Fairhaven High School Honor Society is small of number, but great of purpose. The society hopes to develop and encourage an interest in high scholastic standards within the student body. Initiation in the Spring raises the membership considerably to the greater credit of Fairhaven High. The Honor Society is actually a hope for a brighter scholastic future.

Traffic Squad

This year has been a very active one for the traffic squad. Under the apt leadership of Mr. Bither, the squad has devised a whole new plan for traffic in the tunnel and in the addition. Also, the cafeteria has been kept in order by dependable, willing members of this fine squad. Everyone agrees that the traffic squad has done a remarkable job, and they certainly deserve a large measure of thanks.

Officers are, left to right: S. Vining, D. Knox, R. Kszystyniak, B. Moore, C. Bergeron, S. Mederios, J. Delano

French Club A

Officers: D. Knox, N. Carruth, E. Escolas, J. German

The French Club at Fairhaven High School has always been a traditional organization, but in the past year it has grown much in size and popularity. French Club A is conducted by Monsieur John German, president, under the direction of Monsieur Donald Dufour of the French department. Many activities have been enjoyed this year including various movies, guest speakers, and a visit by members of the club to the language laboratory at New Bedford High School.

French Club B

French Club B assembles twice a month also under the guidance of Monsieur Donald Du-four. Through movies, games, lectures, and conversations the members gain an appreciation of French culture in addition to practice in using a foreign tongue.

Officers: B. Everett, K. Teixeira, R. Perry, S. Entin

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club of Fairhaven High School promotes the use of the Spanish language and widens a member's knowledge of Spain and her culture. Mrs. Joseph Guay, head of the Spanish Department, supervises the various activities of the club. Spanish stories are read; different games are played in Spanish; different aspects of the country of Spain and her traditions are learned and discussed. The officers of the club are: Linda Martin, President; Janet King, Vice-President; Elizabeth Sandval, the Spanish-speaking exchange student from Venezuela, Secretary; Carlos Ribeiro, Treasurer.

Members, left to right: S. Benjamin, G. Jacobsen, S. Viveiros, J. Perry, J. Madruga, L. Rite, D. Breize, K. Simmons, D. Couto.

Driver Ed

The Driver Education classes rolled on as usual this year. The first part of the course was devoted to classwork, and the latter part was given to practice driving. Mr. Schimmel had young drivers trying their skills during study periods and after school nearly every day. The students who have taken this course will be better drivers, because they have benefited from the careful training which Mr. Schimmel has afforded.

Homemaking Clubs

Mrs. Doran gives Sandra Halle a few pointers

Homemaking Club A consists of Junior and Senior girls who meet every other Wednesday afternoon to either knit or sew. Mrs. Doran, the sewing instructor, is director in charge of meetings.

Under the direction of Mrs. Doran the club has helped to mend athletic uniforms and make play costumes.

As one may see the Homemaking Club is a credit to Fairhaven High School.

Homemaking Club B consists of Freshmen and Sophomore girls who meet alternately with Homemaking Club A. Like Club A, Club B is also under the direction of Mrs. Doran.

At each meeting the girls knit or sew, while at the same time exchanging ideas. As future homemakers the girls profit much from their sewing circles.

"A little off here, and a little off there, and soon all that's left is the underwear."

Cheerleaders

Fairhaven High School is very proud of its eight peppy cheerleaders who have continued throughout the year to support all the athletic teams and have worked diligently toward the cheering tournaments in the Spring. Led by Marjorie Schmidt, the girls also have sponsored a football dance and two food sales to earn enough money to buy their uniforms. Their advisor, Miss Jean Campbell, has given generously of her time and help which were greatly appreciated.

Pep Squad

Football and basketball games just would not have been the same without our enthusiastic pep squad. All year long these energetic girls attended the games without fail. This group has been a great asset, to school spirit and sportsmanship.

Officers: N. Copeland, A. Gardella, G. McCarthy

Business Club

The newly formed Business Club is comprised of commercially minded Juniors and Seniors. Mrs. Noyer, the advisor, was persuaded into organizing the club by the popular demand of her students. The club is aimed to acquaint students with the business world and to encourage further education in this field. Its members discuss the various problems and opportunities in business with their advisor. The officers are: Richard Bonnoyer, President; Linda Poirier, Vice-President; Linda Sims, Secretary; and Rosemary Canto, Treasurer.

Art Club

Every Wednesday afternoon the Art Club is called to order under the able guidance of Mrs. Mandell, the Art teacher. The presiding officers are: Penny Baker, Pres.; Carolyn Marques, Vice-Pres.; Sandra Wesolowski, Secretary; and Ann Early, Treasurer.

Each year the club has attractively decorated the various bulletin boards throughout the school, and this year the club made Christmas cards and sent them to St. Luke's Hospital, Union Hospital, and St. Mary's Home.

The accomplishments of the Art Club have always been an asset to Fairhaven High School.

Officers: C. Marques, A. Early, S. Wesolowski, P. Baker.

Fairhaven's contribution to the art world.

Future Nurses

Officers: B. Moore, P. Oister, C. Whelan, R. Fonseca.

A great need has arisen in the medical profession for trained nurses to staff our hospitals. At Fairhaven High School a group of girls has joined together to form a Future Nurses Club which hopes to foster an interest in the school in Nursing as a profession. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Dennie the Future Nurses Club is doing its part in providing for a healthy future.

Future Teachers

The Future Teachers' Club, advised by Mrs. Edith Moore, is an organization which helps to introduce interested students to the teaching profession. During the year, the club sponsored a novel basketball game between the boys in the Key Club and the F.T.A.'s girls. Each year the organization gives a scholarship from its treasury to a deserving student.

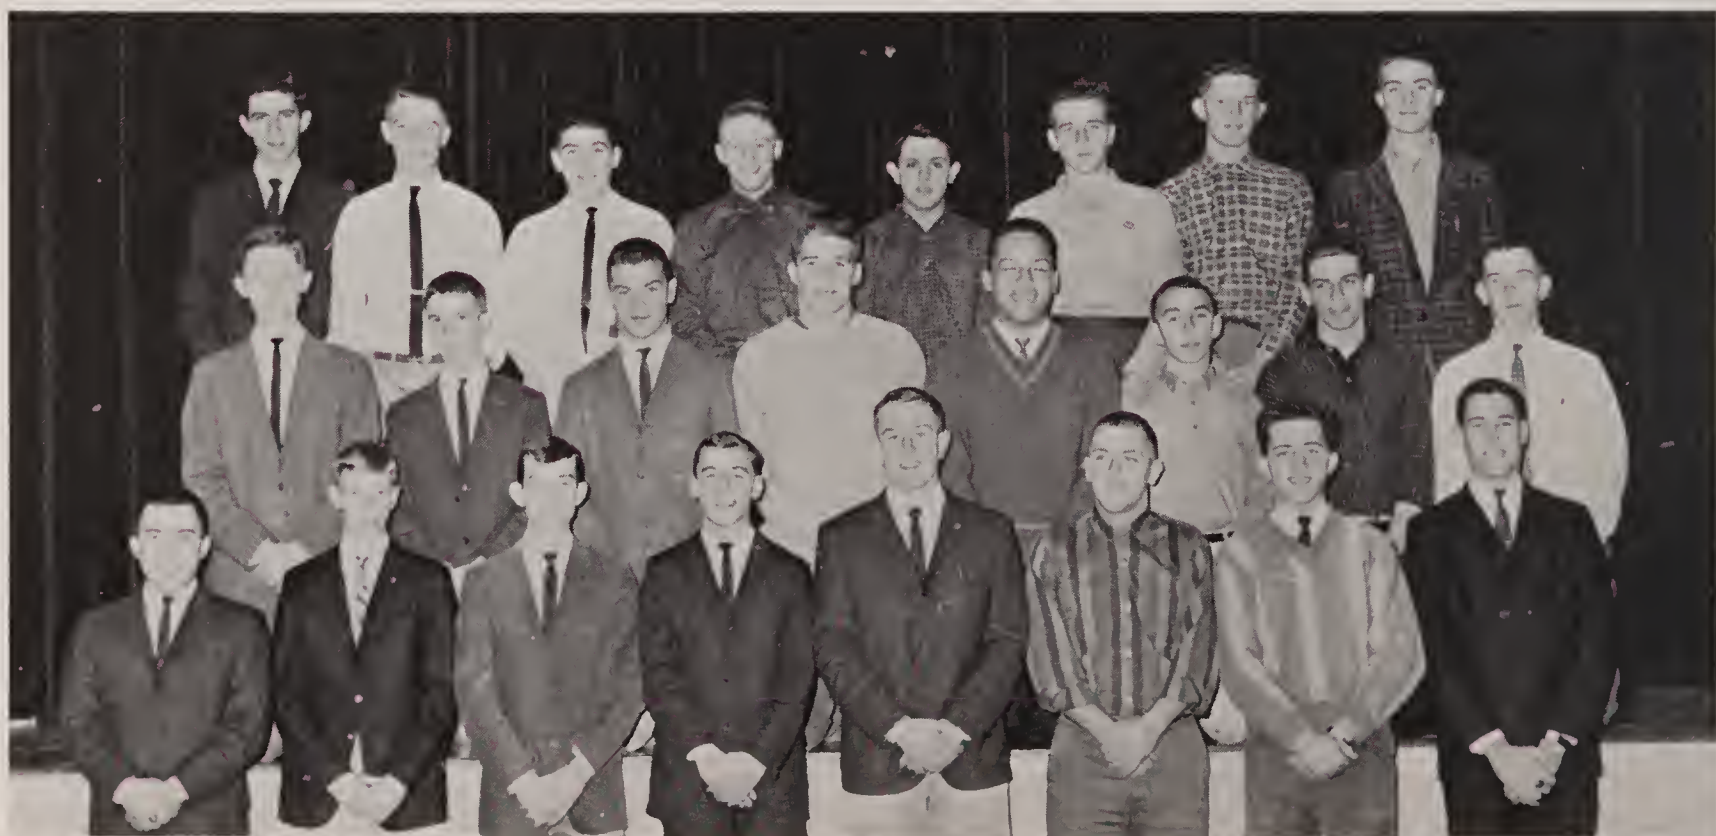

Officers: N. Pacheco. L. Shurtleff, D. Knox, S. Messier

Key Club

Officers: N. Locke, R. Kszystyniak, D. Cabral, P. Souza

Key Clubbing was founded and is maintained on principles of service. The Key Club at Fairhaven High School has dedicated itself to this end. The Key Club has tried to be of service wherever possible in the school and community. Advised by instructors, Mr. Harry Kummer and Mr. Joseph Taffe, and led by officers Douglas Cabral, President; Fred Cushing, Vice-President; Richard Kszystyniak, Secretary; and Paul Souza, Treasurer, the Key Club has become an integral part of life at Fairhaven High School.

F.H.S.'s illustrious gentlemen.

Laverdiere. Last row: A. Troll, C. Mitchell, P. Cardoza, R. Whittle, S. Messier, M. Simon, R. Fonseca, C. Maxfield, and A. Patnaude.

Student Council

The Student Council, advised by Mrs. Doris Bruce, has led a very active year. Several of the Council's many projects were to send Christmas baskets to the needy, sponsor an A.F.S. tea, and make amendments to the Student Constitution.

The Student Council serves many purposes which often go unnoticed. It helps to build good school spirit and encourages a better behaved student body.

Library

The library club and the library assistants have been a great help to Miss Pillsbury this year. Together, they have worked to make the library a far more interesting, brighter place.

We are all very proud of our fine library, and everyone agrees that these students deserve many thanks.

The Members of the Library Club are: L. Macedo, T. Letton, M. Bassett, J. Thibault, J. Cormier, S. Boling, H. Vincent, D. McCombe

Audio-Visual Club

Modern innovations in teaching have brought about a great need for capable boys to operate the intricate machinery. The need has been effectively filled through the efforts of the Audio-Visual Club. Without these boys Fairhaven High could never benefit from the wonderful apparatus which it owns. A hearty thanks is greatly deserved by these hard working aides.

The Spray

Editor Charles Maxfield and Barbara Acksen look over the result of many hours of hard work.

"The Spray" our new school newspaper, is something which the students at Fairhaven High have wanted for some time. In the early fall Mrs. Knipe, the faculty advisor mentioned that some students had shown some interest in publishing a school newspaper. There was an eager response from the student body, and before we knew it, the first edition was being distributed in all the homerooms. Everyone was very pleased with the first effort and wanted more. Now, we hope the newspaper will become an indispensable school activity.

Our Band adds much spirit and life to Fairhaven High. Traveling about the state, the band performs and competes with many other bands for high ratings and honors. Playing for many assemblies and rallies, a Pop's Concert, and an exchange program, are just a few of the enjoyable experiences in which a band member may participate.

Majorettes: F. Sylvia, G. Daignault, C. Manganelli, P. Wunschel, K. Younger, L. Tavares

Band officers: M. Morency, J. Lucas, C. Costa, L. Larriviere

Orchestra

Every Tuesday and Friday the Fairhaven High School Orchestra meets to rehearse under the able direction of Mr. Leo Balandyk. They practice diligently throughout the year in preparation for entertainment at various concerts, school activities, and the annual Southeastern Auditions Festival. Many members of the orchestra have had the opportunity to attend the District Concert at which they are a great credit to Fairhaven High School.

Vocalaires

The Vocalaires consists of girls who give up their after school time to sing under the direction of Mrs. Hemingway, the vocal music teacher.

Throughout the years members of the Vocalaires have performed in the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Festival, while the group as a whole have been presented at the annual Choral Concert.

Mixed Chorus

The singing voices of both boys and girls are found in the Mixed Chorus, led by Mrs. Hemingway, the vocal music teacher.

The Chorus participates in various school affairs and student assemblies. The Choral Concert is an annual event for the chorus.

One can usually find the tones of the Mixed Chorus ringing from the old auditorium to the new.

Football 1962

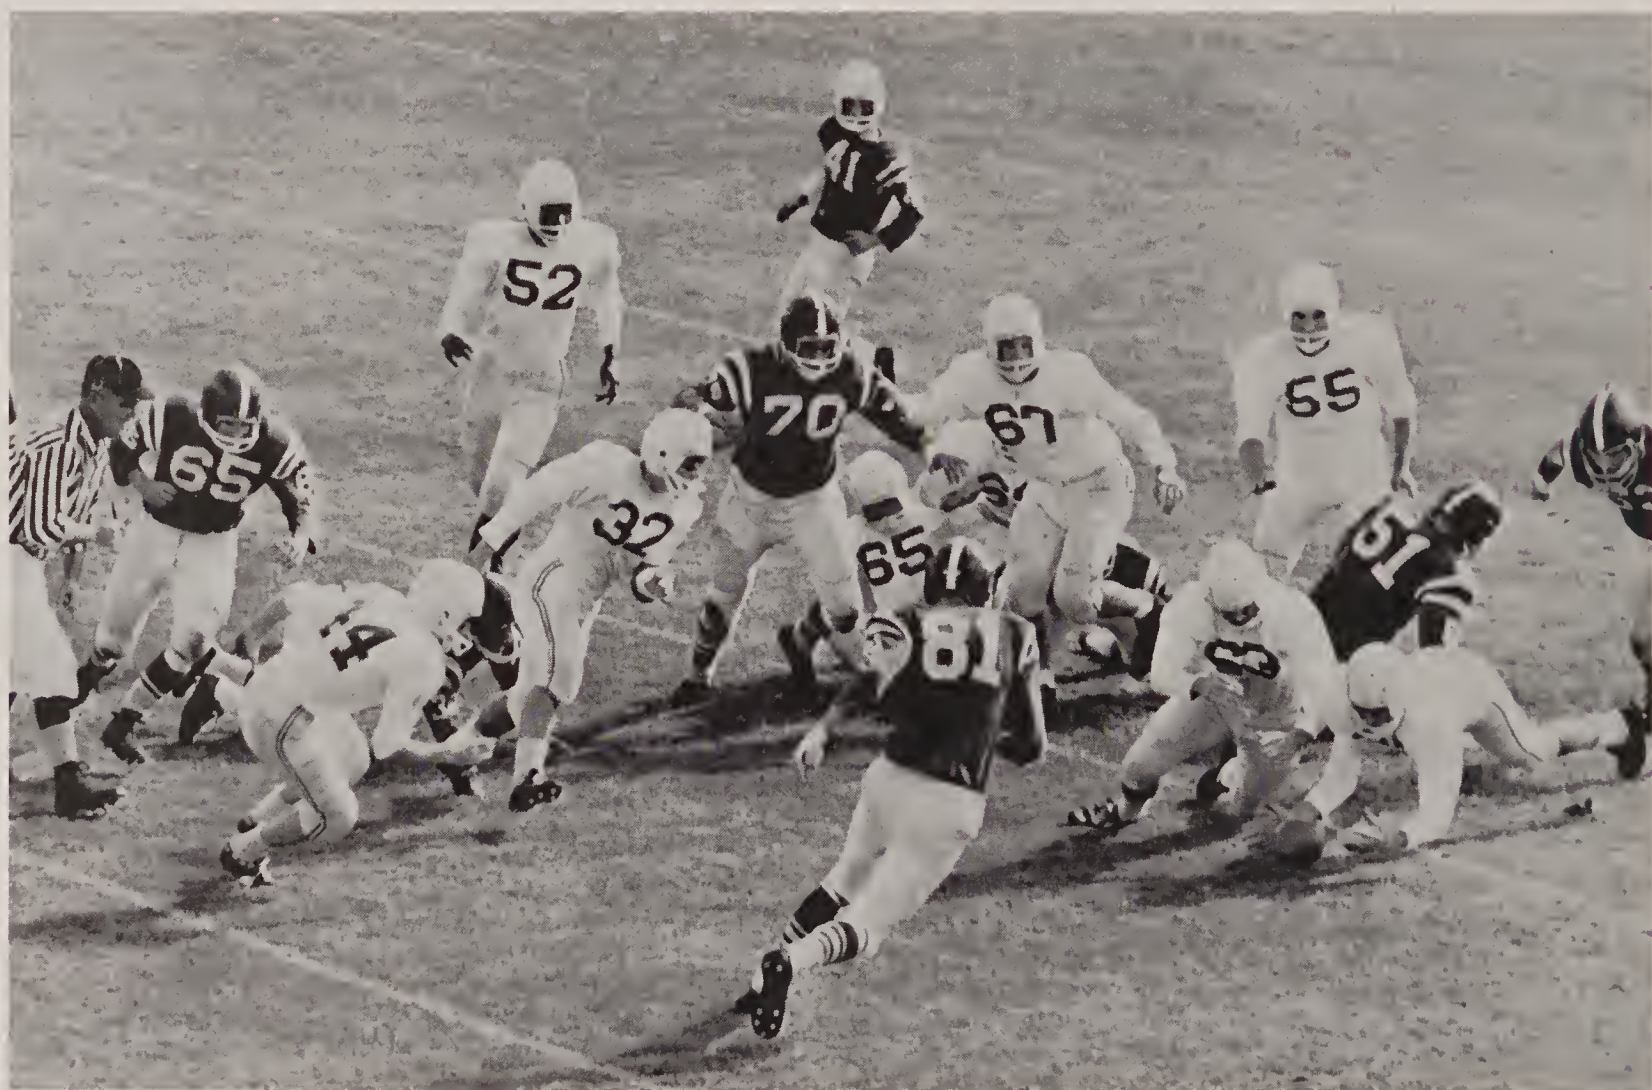

Under the competent leadership of Coach Cornforth, Coach Kummer, Coach Bellotti, and Coach Sequin, the Fairhaven High School Football Team played a good season. Although the record registered more losses than victories, the spirit shown on the field atoned for the defeats. The Blue Devils lost to schools much bigger than F.H.S. In defeat, the Blue held the opposition at bay. Late game surges in the Attleboro, Durfee, and Taunton games threatened to turn the tide in favor of the Blue, but time ran out on Fairhaven. The best games were played against Stang, who won the County Championship, Coyle, which was a tumult in the mud, and Arch-rival Dartmouth, which F.H.S. won 24-21. The Turkey Day Thriller added spice to the teams' left-over turkey as the game was played on Saturday due to rain on Thanksgiving. The season was characterized by hard work and determination to do the very best job possible.

The 1963 basketball team played a good hard season. Although the over-all season record was not outstanding, a close look at the scorebook would show a different story. Fairhaven lost many of its games in over-time or in the final minutes of the fourth quarter. The Blue Devils scored big wins over favored Attleboro, Vocational, and Stang. They also lost cliff-hangers to Durfee, Stang, and Attleboro. The latter game was in over-time. After the regular season was over, the Blue accepted a bid to play in the Bay State Tourney. Silver Lake was the first victim of the Blue. N. Attleboro, which had been the bane of F.H.S. all season, stopped our team in the quarter-finals.

Much credit is to be given to Coach Wayne Wilson and Coach Dick Arrieta, who gave of themselves so that the team gained much in the way of knowledge learned and experience. With several J.V.s coming up to supplement the remaining Juniors, next year's team looms large.

Baseball Team 1962

In the spring of 1962, the Blue Devil Baseball Team donned new uniforms and gave fight to the opposition. The season was as near perfect as it could be. In League competition Fairhaven lost only 2 games. Under the able leadership of Coach Wayne Wilson, the Blue forged ahead to capture the lion's share of victories.

The 1963 season looks promising with the return of pitcher Steve Vining, infielders Paul Borges and Dick Renaud, and outfielders Steve Bouly and Joe Dwelly.

Track Team 1962

First row: W. Leshyk, P. Sylvia, E. Hartigan, T. Hiller, S. Toland, F. Henriques, B. Patenaude

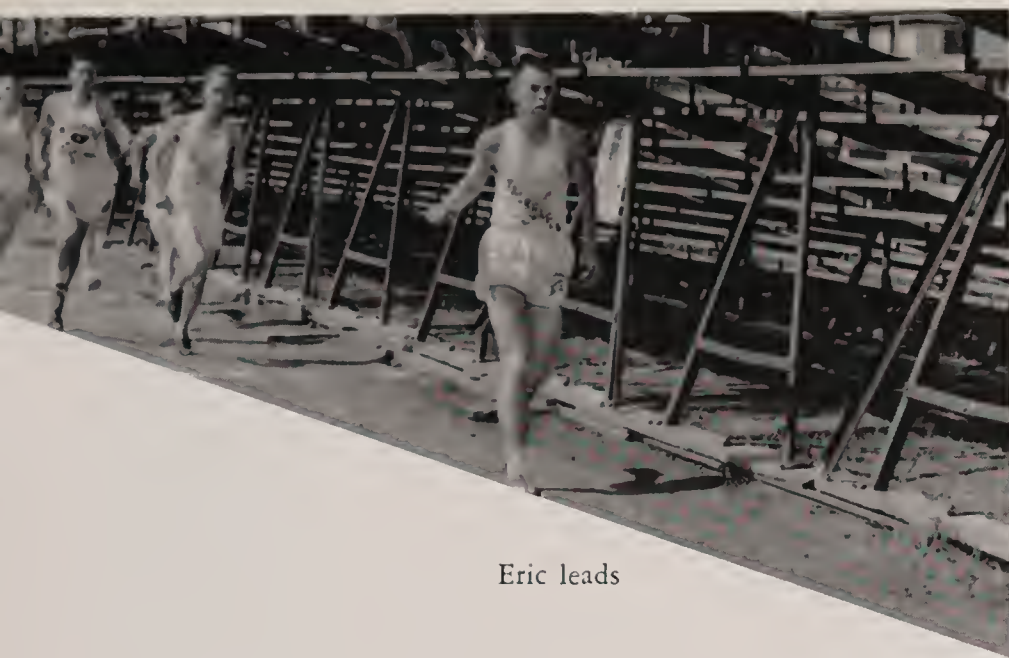

Second row: P. Cardoza, H. Booth, W. St. Onge, P. Doran, L. Staples, C. Mitchell, S. Schimmel, S. Ferreira, D. Jacobsen, W. Lodge, N. Shurtleff

Fourth row: D. Jacobsen, A. Ewing, M. Smith, R. Genest, S. Desroches, J. Avila, W. Harrison, R. Howland, P. Deblois, S. Morris, J. German, D. Mello, J. Howell

The 1962 track season at Fairhaven was very successful. The team, guided by Coach Cornforth, won all of its dual meets, and performed well in State-wide competition at the Belmont Relays, St. John's Relays, G. B. I. meet in Boston and the State Meet. Our 1-mile relay team took first place for the third year in a row at St. John's Relays.

The prospects for the 1963 season look bright. With valuable experience gained during the winter running on N. B. Vocational's board track, our boys should repeat and improve on last year's record.

Kneeling: M. Sitnik, E. Locke, P. Souza, W. Holt, R. Tate, P. Renfree, H. Shumway.
Standing: D. Pierce, A. Hickey, Coach Twarog, S. Messier, C. Bryan; absent, Mrs. Renfree.

The 1962 Tennis squad had what might be termed a building season. With no returning seniors, the team, under the leadership of Coach Ed Twarog, struggled to win half of their matches. Although the opposition was older and more experienced, the F.H.S. squad did its best to uphold the tradition of the Blue Devils.

The 1963 Tennis season may prove a little brighter with seven veteran, varsity lettermen returning. Five of these lettermen are seniors playing their last year for F.H.S. This year's squad will have a good chance to win the Southeastern Massachusetts Small School Tennis Championship.

P. Souza, W. Holt, R. Tate, E. Locke, M. Sitnik,
H. Shumway, P. Renfree, Coach Twarog.

Seated: L. Shurtleff, J. Pacheco, C. Richard, J. Holden, K. Medeiros
 Standing: C. Bergeron, Miss Campbell, N. Pacheco, B. Pimental, G. Jacobsen, D. Gerwatowski

Girls' Basketball

The Fairhaven High School Girls' basketball team under the leadership of Coach Campbell had a winning season. They compiled a record of 7 wins and 3 losses.

An abstract geometric design consisting of several thick black lines. Two lines are nearly horizontal, one slightly above the other, extending from the left edge towards the right. Two other lines are nearly vertical, one slightly to the left of the other, extending from the top edge towards the bottom. These lines intersect to form a grid-like structure. The lines are not perfectly straight, giving the design a hand-drawn or organic feel.

Now we have crossed many oceans,
answered many questions,
solved many problems.
Education has prepared us for the journey ahead.

Just as man is looking to the stars in his quest for the secrets of the universe, we, too, begin a new journey to maturity, responsibility, and to the future.

We shall encounter new horizons,
new challenges, but our bridge between childhood and maturity,
our high school,
has prepared us well.
We are ready to meet the challenge.
